

Join us for a Community Call to Action

Saturday, October 28, 2:00-5:00 pm
Pine Street Church (1237 Pine Street, Boulder)

Context: In April, the Religious Affairs Committee (RAC) of the NAACP of Boulder County hosted the Solidarity Dividend: Continuing the Community Conversation at Congregation Har Hashem as a follow-up to reading “The Sum of Us” by Heather McGee. Many of you expressed a desire to continue the conversation! Whether you were able to participate in April, or if this is your first time, we hope you will join us for a dynamic afternoon in person on October 28 to continue this important conversation.

Program: Dr. Sheila Davis, NAACP State Health Chair and NAACP of Boulder County Climate Justice Chair, will moderate a panel of four local experts representing important racial justice topics in our community: K-12 Education (Alicia Graves, NAACP of Boulder County Education Chair), Higher Education, Health Care and Criminal Justice.

Conversation: Break into groups based on these topics to discuss the following questions from the first stage of the Truth, Racial Healing & Transformation (TRHT) “Community Visioning & Planning:”

1. What will your community look and feel like after racism has ended?
2. What are the current racial realities of your community and how did you get here?
3. What are the key leverage points of change in your community?
4. Who are the key stakeholders and beneficiaries not at the table? How can they be engaged?
5. What specific actions can be taken to achieve your vision of a community without racism?
6. What’s next – what meaningful action can be taken?

Background/Resources: This is the third in a series of conversations sponsored by the Religious Affairs Committee (RAC) of the NAACP of Boulder County. It is recommended that you be familiar with “The Sum of Us” and/or read this article by Dr. Gail Christopher before you attend. You can find additional resources at this link.
